Dramatic Entries For Competition Now Complete

Three Organizations Enter For Initial Event

Events for the first Dramatic Competition to be sponsored by the Little Theatre Association are now complete. The organizations who have signed their intention to enter will be held over until the second show, those competing in the first event are: The United Church Players, The Anglican Church Dramatists and the High School Literary Society. As the competition is to be held in the Little Theatre in about a month the various committees are now busy getting their acts in rehearsal.

A well balanced program is being arranged for by the executive and the element of competition is bound to give added spice to the performance. Entry price is allowed the stage for 45 minutes. A special prize is being offered for the winning entry and a substantial cash prize for the organization selling the greatest number of tickets, so patronize your own organization and be there to support them.

Trouble Over Stock In Bowell Dispute

Local Credit Member Called In To Investigate

There appears to be trouble brewing in a section of the Tilley East Area west of here over the areas allotted for the grazing of stock and the difficulty of keeping the stock in the allotted areas.

The expanding of gray stock appears to have brought the matter to a show down. At a meeting was held in Bowell last Monday to which Mr. Luch the newly elected Social Credit Member for Empress was called to investigate the situation.

The Review is informed that the matter was thoroughly thrashed out at this meeting and that a collection was taken up to defray the expenses of the trip to go to Edmonton for the purpose of trying to iron out the difficulty.

DAMON RUNYEN

One of the greatest newspaper reporters of the present generation is Damon Runyen, author of "Princess O'Hara" who is being shown on the screen of the Empress Theatre this week.

He is beyond doubt the best sports writer and one of the best notch feature writers in the journalistic field. His work on the famous Hovman trial was read the world over.

"Princess O'Hara" originally ran in magazine form, and is considered to be one of the best things Runyen has ever written. It contains every element of an essay for a thrilling dramatic picture with good, wholesome, comely situations. Jean Parker and Chester Morris are costarred in "Princess O'Hara" a Universal picture directed by David Burton.

Many Records Broken At School Field Day

Dominion Glass Shield Won By Senior High School

The School field day which was postponed last week owing to the inclement weather, was held on the Stampede grounds Monday afternoon. The weather was ideal for the occasion and there was a fair attendance despite the short notice given.

As the preliminaries were run off at the school only the finals were conducted on Monday. This made it more interesting for the spectators and some close and exciting contests were pulled off.

Out of a total of forty entries fourteen local records were broken. The Dominion Glass Shield was won by the Senior High School. The winners were: Mary Ann Hogvelt, Evelyn Waters, Nick Baier, Marjorie Horne, Betty Balmer, Billy Martin, with 8 points each. W. Fairhurst and Marjorie Fairhurst, 9 points each. Robert Peterson, Mollie Shaw, Susan Skidmore Reggie Rose 11 points each.

Susan Skidmore and Reggie Rose having each broken two of last year's records have tied for first place for individual honours. The program was most successfully conducted and great interest was shown in the event by teachers, students and spectators.

Two brothers, who have not met each other for 31 years were here last Friday when Mr. A. Lavell, of Pembroke, Ont. arrived in town to visit our esteemed citizen Mr. P. Lavell. The visiting brother was on his way to the Pacific coast and will stay off here again on his return journey. Naturally both brothers thoroughly enjoyed the visit, reliving many reminiscences of their younger days.

Minister of Agriculture who will address a public meeting in Medicine Hat on Friday evening. The meeting in Medicine Hat will be held in Granada Hall and will commence promptly at 8 o'clock.

G. M. BLACKSTOCK, M. C.

Conservative Candidate for this constituency, who will accompany Mr. Wier at the meeting Friday evening.

Mayor Cox spent last weekend in Calgary on business.

Mr. Hiron met with a nasty accident last Monday, as a result of which she had her nose broken and her face badly cut. He fell down the cellar stairs. Fortunately her wounds are not serious, although painful.

Hon. R. Wier in Medicine Hat Friday Evening

Will Address Public Meeting in Granada Hall

In our last issue we announced that G. M. Blackstock, M. C. Conservative candidate for this constituency, would address a public meeting here on Friday evening of this week. Since then arrangements have been made to have Hon. Robert Wier, Minister of Agriculture, address a meeting in Medicine Hat on that evening, and, as that is the only evening he can be in this district, the meeting here has been postponed so that Mr. Blackstock can be with him.

The meeting in Medicine Hat will be held in Granada Hall and will commence promptly at 8 o'clock.

As Mr. Wier's department has done much to improve conditions in this section of the province farmers should take advantage of the opportunity to hear him.

Pioneer of District Passed Away Sunday

Mrs. Bardell Came to District 20 Years Ago

Another pioneer settler of this district, in the person of Mrs. Ellen Elizabeth Bardell, who was the late Edward Bardell, who preceded her husband, passed away last Monday morning.

The late Mrs. Bardell had been living with her son, Ted, on the farm just west of town, but four weeks ago she contracted a severe cold and was brought to town to stay with her daughter Mrs. Harry Johnson. For a time she was recovering nicely but on Saturday she took a relapse and gradually weaker until on Monday morning she passed peacefully away.

Deceased was born in Hertfordshire, England, on March 7, 1852. She came to Canada in 1906 when she settled on a farm west of Redcliff where she has resided ever since. Deceased leaves to mourn her loss her daughter and two sons, Mrs. H. Johnson, Harry and Ted, all of Redcliff.

The late Mrs. Bardell experienced all the vicissitudes of pioneer life on the prairie and despite the many discouragements was always of a cheerful disposition and a kindly nature. Her home was always open to passersby who were received with the kindness and hospitality which was characteristic of the early days.

The funeral takes place this afternoon from St. Ambrose Church. The remains will be interred in Hillside Cemetery, Medicine Hat.

She has passed another pioneer who has done so much for the development of Western Canada.

Keep in Mind the annual Halloween Dance to be held in O. J. P. Hall under the auspices of the local Lodge. Watch for further particulars.

3 Candidates Nominated For This Constituency

Blackstock, Gershaw and Mitchell in Field

Three candidates were nominated last Monday for this constituency. These were C. M. Blackstock, Conservative, Dr. F. W. Gershaw, Liberal and A. Mitchell, Social Credit.

At a Stevens Reorganization Party Meeting on Saturday F. W. Foster, of Medicine Hat was chosen as a candidate for that party but after canvassing the situation before nominations closed he decided to withdraw from the contest. Consequently there are now only the three candidates in the field.

Impressive Service at St. Ambrose Church

Held Last Sunday For The Harvest Thanksgiving

St. Ambrose Church was taxed to capacity to accommodate the large congregation which gathered for both services last Sunday on the occasion of the annual Harvest Thanksgiving Service.

The Church was appropriately decorated with fruits, vegetables, grain and flowers which made a fitting setting for the impressive services.

Rev. H. S. Hammett, the vicar, gave timely addresses at both services and the choir rendered special music.

As is the custom members of the congregation met in the parish hall on Monday evening when the products used for decoration purposes were auctioned off by Mr. W. Hill, who got good prices for his sales.

After the sale a social hour was spent when cards were played and prizes were won by Mrs. G. H. Werts and Mrs. J. P. DeWitt, while congratulations went to Mrs. F. Connam and Mrs. A. Osgood.

Lamb Feeding Project Approved This Year

Freight Charges to Feed Lots Paid By Government

The Dominion Lamb Feeding Project which was so successfully carried out in 1933 and 1934 has again been inaugurated for 1935. The project makes possible the feeding and fattening of Western range lambs during the fall and winter on farms in Eastern Canada where there is ample building accommodation, a good water supply and a plentiful stock of feed, including clover or alfalfa hay and home grown grains.

Under the above project farmers who are approved as lamb feeders will not be required to pay out any cash. The freight charges to feed lots will be prepaid by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, reimbursement being made for the price of sale when lambs are fattened and have been marketed.

Those desiring to fatten range lambs should communicate with A. A. MacMillan, Associate Chief, Field Services, Livestock Branch, Ottawa.

British Educationists Tour Canada

A tour as guests of the National Council of Education, twelve British Directors of Education are at present touring the Dominion. The visit has been arranged to celebrate the 50th Anniversary of the Overseas Education League, which organizes annual visits of Canadian students and teachers to Great Britain, and is a return of the hospitality extended by British students in the Canadian visitors.

The British group arrived at Quebec in the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Australia" on September 4 and their spokesman stated they hoped to "earn some cash while in Canada." The tour shows a commendable interest in educational progress with Liberty, says Mr. Stanley Baldwin, is rooted in the English character and fostered and maintained by institutions which have grown out of that character. That liberty is embodied in the parliamentary system which is the result of the definite determination of the English people to manage individually and nationally, their own affairs. Mr. Baldwin says that system has grown out of the common sense and good nature of the people, who prefer elections to street fighting, and taking shape of the revolutionary tribunals. The English, above all other people, have made a success of democracy and that success has been planted in the Overseas Dominions. The reason for this is added by the London Times as being a refusal to "wear our fetters in our souls." That freedom is the breath of democracy which protects the people from domination by one side or the other through the expression of opinion in the ballot box. It is, as the Times says, "the frustration into action of our instinctive determination to resist any form of tyranny that has from time to time pursued us."

Democracy and Liberty

Mr. Baldwin reiterates that the price of liberty is eternal vigilance, and the more so in a democracy which is the most difficult form of government, and, therefore, the most worthy of giving our lives to make it a success. Thus Great Britain has the reputation that it is not enough to sit with folded arms and believe that she has the greatest Government in the world. Tyranny takes many forms. It is constantly making its head. One way of propaganda it has devised is to constantly maintain that democracy has failed. According to Mr. Baldwin, it is the form of government which has won more triumphs than any other, and, therefore, should be cherished and cultivated as in times past. Self-government, which is democracy, has maintained in developing forms in England for eight centuries. No one is going to be able to tear it from its roots, which are laid in the English character.

When we review the history of this North American continent, we find that the struggle for liberty and self-government is written large over its pages. The Pilgrim Fathers left the old world in order that they might enjoy that religious liberty denied to them at home. The original American colonies revolted because self-government was withheld from them, and taxation imposed on them without their consent. The American Civil War was a life and death struggle for liberty. Our long fight followed soldier in pre-Confederation days to win liberty and the rights of responsible government in Canada.

In the earlier days of the world's history, liberty could only be gradually won through bloodshed and death on the battlefield. Today it can only be retained and expanded through democratic forms of government, and by stern resistance to all movements, however subtle and apparently innocent, which tend to restrict the liberties of the people, and of individuals who in the aggregate are the people and the State.

Why have the peoples of Great Britain, United States and Canada laid such stress on individual liberty and been willing to sacrifice all else, in order to achieve it? The answer is, of course, that liberty is the greatest thing in life, and without it life is not worth the living. A slave may enjoy health and security, but lacking his God-given right of life, he is denied that which is supremely great, contentment and happiness.

It is not to be forgotten, too, that it is only in those countries where full and free democratic forms of government exist, liberty remains the precious possession of the people. Yet we find in certain countries, where the people became law in defence of their liberties, those very democratic forms were first utilized by would-be dictators to later deprive them of their liberties. And all over North America today there are organized groups, employing the very liberty which democracy has conferred upon them, to overthrow and destroy democracy.

It is necessary, therefore, for all people who prize liberty to be on their guard and resist every attempt, however veiled it may be, which is designed to restrict the liberty of themselves or others in even the smallest degree. Liberty once lost may be extremely hard to win back again.

A New Electric Lamp

Used Successfully in California To Attract and Kill Insects

A new electric lamp that attracts insects from fields and orchards and then electrocutes them is in successful use in orchards, packing plants, slaughter houses and mushroom nurseries as the result of long experimentation by Prof. W. B. Hemes of the University of California. The color of the light may be changed to the one most attractive to the insect pest. Around the light is a wire cage. Insects fly toward the light's glow and are instantly electrocuted when they strike the wire cage. The head of the lamp contains transformers which supply electric power to the wire cage and to the lighted coil.

Interings have been known to be from 200 to 300 feet above the level and to have an entire height of from 700 to 1,600 feet—the larger portion being below sea level.

Will Try Boreal System

New Method of Training For Youth in Pontefract

A system of training youthful delinquents similar to the Boreal system in the United Kingdom will be inaugurated in one of the penal institutions of Canada, Sept. 1, it was learned at Ottawa. Within four years it is hoped to develop plans embracing the whole Dominion so far as Boreal training is concerned.

If we are given one year for every 10 years of experimentation in Boreal training carried on by the United Kingdom, the results will be a satisfactory system," declared one high government official. "The Boreal system has been in vogue in Great Britain for 40 years, the new methods are continuing to emerge."

In Canadian penitentiaries there were 221 young men between the ages of 16 and 21. It is with a proportion of these that the training system will start.

Holiday For Auto Horns

To make the life of pedestrians "a little more pleasant" Alderman Margaret McWilliams urged the blowing of automobile horns be prohibited for the world upon the 40 years, the new methods are continuing to emerge."

Husband (to wife who has just broken her glasses)—"You break everything that belongs to you."

Wife—"I'm afraid you're right. Even you are a little cracked."

Old lady (to taxi-driver, who is still holding out his hand after receiving legal fare)—"It's no use showing it to me, my man. I don't have a thing about palmistry."

Paying Their Way

Donne Babies Contribute Indirectly To Revenue For Ontario

If the five little Donne girls have anything about such things as tourist traffic, gasoline taxes and the revenue of trade, they might present themselves in their contributions to business and to the treasury of Ontario out of all proportions to what is expected of such babes.

It has been estimated that the thousands of visitors to Callender are paying approximately $12,000 a month in gasoline taxes to the province. The crowds who see the Donne quintuplets average one thousand a day. Tourist traffic into the North Bay district has increased nearly forty per cent, creating an evident prosperity that reaches out to hotels, other purveyors and tradesmen of all kinds.

The five little girls are more than paying their way, and are returning to the province substantial dividends on the sympathy and public assistance that was so generously and promptly rendered to them in the first precarious months of their young lives.

They are also supporting twenty persons, according to a report from Callender—their parents, three nurses, two maids for their mother, two hired men for their father, a cook, two orderlies, two special constables, three men to attend the two hospital maids and Dr. Dufour.

To their famous physician they doubtless owe more than they can ever repay, but he is ever ready to occupy a charming and cheerful position of independence in the sponsored knowledge that they are a personal and financial asset to Ontario. Thousands of men and families are undoubtedly on relief, dependent on the strained provincial treasury to which five year-old babies are indirectly adding contributing such appreciable sums as $12,000 in gasoline taxes alone.

The contrast presents just another anomaly of life.—Peterborough Examiner.

Products Should Be Shown

Only Way To Interest China In Canadian Products

China, and particularly southern China, offers a huge and comparatively untapped field of opportunity for Canadian industry. Mrs. Beatrice Thompson, director of the advertising and publicity bureau of Hong Kong, China, and Malaya, declared at a luncheon in connection with the proposed British Empire and China trade fair, which opens for December, 1936, at Hong Kong.

The said foodstuffs in particular were to demand. She estimated the potential consumption of imported butter at 13,000 tons annually, with proportionate opportunity for the sale of other meat and food products. "There is only one way to interest the Chinese in your exports," Mrs. Thompson declared. "It is to show them your products for themselves. Merely to follow plans tried elsewhere and send out a commission, or a brief visit is to court the same failure and lack of results that have been experienced in the past by other parts of the empire."

Deserves A Monument

Taxpayer Carries Burden Of World On His Shoulders

Someone should start a movement to build a monument to the average taxpayer. He is the man who keeps the home fires burning and makes the wheels of government go around. He has gotten himself into the position of a taxpayer by thrift, by spending less than he makes, by building a home first and owning a roof over his own head. To do it he has denied himself pleasures and luxuries that the spendthrift had in plenty in every community he may be abused or referred to slightly as a taxpayer on many occasions, but in good years and bad years he is the backbone of the country, and without him there would be no government and no relief. He carries the burden that others share, many times without complaint, which he would often be justified in voicing. He is deserving a monument—a tall enduring monument—for he has the Atlas of the world upon his shoulders.—Cranbrook, B. C. Courier.

From January to June, 1935, Canada exported 6,163,448 pounds of lent beans, 5,702,061 pounds of lent beans to the United Kingdom; 234,600 pounds to British West India; 62,866 pounds to British West India; 1,664 pounds to Belgium; and 7,613 pounds to other foreign countries.

Bendix Trophy Race

Chicago Air Mail Trial In Victorians In Contest

Benjamin O. Howard, Chicago air mail pilot, drove his white coupe, "Mister Mulligan," through murky skies at Cleveland to victory in the Bendix trophy race, from Newark Union air terminal, Los Angeles, to Cleveland.

While Howard was nursing out Col. Roscoe Turner in flying time less than a minute better than his rival's, the body of Cecil Allen, young Californian pilot, was taken from his cramped plane at the scene of the race start.

Howard flew the 2,666 miles in eight hours, 23 minutes and 36.3 seconds. He was the first of the best arriving at the national air race.

A CAPE FOR DAYTIME AND ONE FOR EVENING IS INCLUDED IN TODAY'S PATTERN

By Ellen Worth

Capotes and more capotes—Paris is capturing this season for every style of the day.

The tailored model may be developed in quite a number of materials, such as tweed, woolsens or tweed, crepes, gabardine, crepe silk, sheer crepes, cashmere, silk alpaca, heavy shantung, pongee cotton weave, etc., for day wear.

There is just a hint of the "Parisian" in the standing collar model that frames the face so flatteringly for more "dressed" wear. It's particularly nice in the latter originally planned. They're so easily made—and at a big saving in cost.

Style No. 655 is designed for sizes small, medium and large. The step-in size requires 2 yards of fabric material for cape with rolled collar; the pattern of 1 1/2 yards for cape with standing collar.

Patterns the each. Send to: Patience Department, Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg.

Lady Hai's Book
Interim Interdict Is Granted Against Publication

An interim interdict was granted against the publication of Lady Hai's book, "The Man I Knew."

The publisher declined to withhold the book in consequence of an action on the grounds that parts of the book infringed the copyright of the trustees in the diaries of the late Field Marshal Earl Haig. Publication of the diaries, it was contended, was likely to be detrimentally affected and cause loss to the Haig estate.

The action recalled the prodigious diary of the late Field Marshal Earl Haig. It was stated his personal record aggregated 750,000 words written in shorthand. His diary was always sent to his wife.

Lady Hai's object in writing the book was largely to vindicate her husband against an attack in the recently-published memoirs of Lloyd George.

Changes In Personnel

Canadian National Railway Officials Are Transferred

Coincident with the retirement after 50 years of service of J. M. Grise, assistant superintendent of sleeping and dining car services at Toronto, the Canadian National Railway announced a number of changes in personnel.

W. A. McDonald is transferred to Toronto as assistant superintendent of sleeping and dining car services; C. T. Ford, Winnipeg, is transferred to Montreal as assistant superintendent; D. C. Gilmore, Edmonton, is transferred to Winnipeg replacing Mr. Ford; H. Coley, Saskatoon, is transferred to Edmonton as assistant superintendent; P. O. Blair, Montreal, goes to Saskatoon as sleeping and dining car agent, and U. J. Mangan, Toronto, is transferred to Montreal as sleeping and dining car agent.

Should Look Her Best

Just As Important For An Elderly Woman As A Young Girl

Even if a woman is 101 years old she should "look her best." Mrs. Lucy M. Ulyatt declared as she observed her 101st anniversary at Berkeley.

"It is just as important for a woman 101 years old to look her best as it is for a girl of 16," said Mrs. Ulyatt as she pondered her nose. Mrs. Ulyatt, who was born at Morgan Springs, Va., attributed her long life to "accepting many and being interested in world politics and political affairs."

Miners' Strike Threatened

British Miners are Dissatisfied With Wages And Working Conditions

A national miners' strike will be declared in Great Britain if demands for higher wages and better working conditions are not met, declared the National Federation, secretary of the Miners' Federation, declared in a manifesto in London. The manifesto asked the public to help the miners to avoid a strike.

"The hour has struck," it said. "After years of paltry subsistence conditions for all slaves, the miners have decided to enforce their demands for the payment of reasonable wages. Their wages are a shame for a civilized community."

New Northern Passage

Discover Warm Water Channel Through Arctic Ice

The Soviet ice breaker, Radio reported by wireless it had discovered a warm water passage through Arctic ice which might be a section of an open channel through which steamers could navigate to the far east from Europe by way of the polar regions.

George Ushakov, head of the expedition exploring Arctic area, said the passage was 600 feet wide, cutting through previously unexplored territory between Franz Josef Land and Novaya Zemlya.

He reported the water lane was flanked by fields of impassable ice. Ushakov, who also announced the discovery of a new island, said he believed the water was a part of the Gulf Stream. The passage was reported extending due north from the position of the island, given as 81.5 degrees northern latitude, approximately 700 miles from the north pole.

The position of the island was given as 80.1 degrees northern latitude, 73.5 longitude, placing it east of the Franz Josef area in a practically unexplored area.

Selskise Has Secret Fund

Former Emperor Left Millions To Defeat Country Against Italy

Reliable sources said Emperor Tsai Selskise has a large secret fund of gold and silver to pour out in fighting Italy in the event of hostilities.

The money, amounting to several million dollars, had been left by the late Emperor Menelik in his last testament for the defence of his country and is deposited in secret vaults known only to the emperor.

The fund includes 10,000,000 gold lire, which Italy paid Ethiopia as indemnity after the Italian disaster defeat in Adua in 1896, as well as huge sums deposited by the emperor from the Government reserves for the preservation of the empire.

Menelik's dying command to his relatives was to defend Ethiopia's independence at all costs, employing the fund as a nucleus.

Successful Outing

Soldier Settlers at Millet District Held Annual Picnic

Millet, Alta.—A very successful picnic of the soldier settlers of Millet, Brightview and Michigan districts was held under the leadership of the Millet Settlers' Union, with the provincial secretary in charge.

The picnic was held in the ideal surroundings of the Kalgaville tourist camp, three miles south of town. Sports were held and later the meal and dance were addressed by Mr. J. B. Dyer, executive member, and Mr. J. B. Dyer, executive member, and Mr. J. B. Dyer, executive member.

It was regretted that the provincial secretary, Mr. W. A. Rogers, of Regina, could not be present as he was engaged to leave for Vancouver on business. The committee look forward to repeating the picnic next year, and hope to swell the number from 40 settlers to 140.

THE REVIEW, REDCLIFF, ALBERTA

Fate Of The Stowaway

Not An Average New As In The Olden Days

The fate of a stowaway in the "good old days" was summary and severe. He could have little doubt as to what he would get—an introduction to the rope-end, and a voyage of discovery in working his passage.

Today the stowaway meets with a far more humane reception. Repeatedly such people are discovered before the ship leaves port and handed over to the authorities on shore. Nevertheless, some there are who manage to elude observation until the vessel they have chosen is well at sea.

It is practically impossible to land undetected at the ports of any civilized country, even could stowaways remain concealed for a whole voyage. Today the life of a stowaway is still fraught with danger. Examples have occurred of men trapped like mice by the shifting of cargo, or suffocated through lack of ventilation.

The Great Eastern, that wonder ship of the reign of Queen Victoria, carried a grim secret below the waterline all the days of her seafaring life. From her very first voyage to her last she carried an inventory stowaway—the body of a dead man—but the fact was never discovered until it reached the ship's hold in the yard. There the skeleton was found in her hold, and proved to be that of a woman who had been engaged in her construction.

A curious stowaway story is told by Captain John Allwood, who has retired after nearly thirty years at sea. His last command was the Union-Castle Heronmouth Castle.

When he was second officer of the ship in 1901 he found an escaped prisoner who was six feet three inches tall in a case describing as containing "curios," and measuring less than five feet in length.

This interesting curiosity was reported to an emissary officer of the Buffs (East Kent Regiment), and the box is still to be seen in the museum on the island of St. Helena.

During the last war vigilance at all ports was great, for as far as Britain was concerned the sea provided the only route for escaping prisoners. Nevertheless, one or two enterprising Germans managed to get away, and a particular individual for whose capture Lord Kitchener had been paid a national newspaper sent a postcard to that organ of public opinion announcing his safe arrival in Denmark.

Found Fortune In Pillow

Chinese Spent Last Coin For Purchase That Brought Wealth

A poor Chinese who bought a little satin pillow with his last coin—bought it, he thought, his wife would like it—now finds his purchase has brought him a fortune. The lucky man, Chen Tug-ung, had borrowed a dollar (16 sh.) from his brother-in-law when he met a destitute Russian who offered him the pillow. He knew his wife would be pleased with its marvelous embroidery and paid over his last dollar. But when he reached home he was afraid to tell her how he had "wasted" the borrowed dollar.

So he lay down with his head on the pillow to think matters over. The pillow was so uncomfortable that he did not sleep and he became irritated and began to tear off its covering. Embroidery of great beauty was revealed and he went on tearing off successive coverings till he came to a ball of cotton wool. It contained 40 pounds of great beauty and size. Now Chen is richer by £400—the sum he obtained for the pearls. The pillow is said to have been lost by the Empress Dowager Tse Hsi during the boxer rising, when she fled from Peking.

He subsequently offered a large reward for its return, but its whereabouts remained a mystery until Chen offered it.

Dr. Hanna Is Dead

Graduate Of Queen's University Was Well Known In West

Dr. James Edward Hanna, graduate of Queen's university, for many years one of Ottawa's leading physicians, died recently of heart disease at the age of 74. He collapsed at breakfast and failed to respond to treatment of his son, Dr. Herbert Hanna, also a Queen's graduate.

Dr. Hanna was widely known in Saskatchewan, where he developed several farms after his retirement from practice in 1911.

What Motorists Want

A million motorists were asked to state the qualities they desired most in a car. The answers ran into the following order: Dependability, economy, safety, comfort, appearance.

Speed, low initial cost, smoothness and, finally, speed.

No one knows when coal was first used for fuel.

Motor Cars in Germany

Per Capita Distribution Is One To Every 15 Privates

Although Germany in the early days of the industry was an important producer of automobiles, and still produces and exports far more than Canada, it has fewer motor vehicles in use by a couple of hundred thousand than this country.

According to Paul Byler, Canadian trade commissioner in Hamburg, a survey showed 106,000 passenger and commercial motor vehicles in use throughout Germany in 1934. The per capita distribution was on a basis of one to every 75 persons. In Canada it is about one to nine persons, and in the United States about one to five.

Germany would therefore appear to be a long way from the saturation point, and a wonderful market for cars is awaiting manufacturers at home or abroad. Evidently it will be for Germany manufacturers, and they ought to do pretty well out of it, under the trade regulations set in Canada. We think the tariff pretty high, but Mr. Byler summarizes the German situation as follows:

"The import duty amounts, in the case of a medium-weight car, of whatever price, to from $400 to $600 (Canadian currency) per unit. Also, it is now becoming difficult and at times impossible for importers or agents to obtain import permits or to complete payment for such purchases of foreign goods."

China Has Sea Monster

Creature Said To Resemble Man And Eat Human Flesh

Inhabitants of the Amoy coast, China, have been terrified by reports of a sea monster with a vast appetite and a partially for human flesh.

The world's latest marine terror bears little resemblance to the famous sea serpents of British Columbia and Scotland. The Amoy monster is said to closely resemble a man when seen from afar although no one has been close enough to obtain an accurate description of the creature.

The monster is modestly clad in long black hair and is reported as philosophic. Apparently it comes among the long stonies body and camel-like head attributed to the Chinese serpents.

It is said to be the lightest wood known, has about half the strength of the best pine.

Recipe For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

CREAM DESSERTS

1 tablespoon granulated gelatine

1/4 cup cold water

1/4 cup sugar

2 egg yolks

1 cup hot milk

2 egg whites

1 cup whipping cream

1 teaspoon vanilla

Pinch of salt.

Boil gelatine in cold water. Beat egg yolks and combine with sugar and salt. Gradually add hot milk and cook in top of double boiler, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Add gelatine. Cool, and when mixture is partially set, fold in stiffly beaten egg whites, whipping cream, and vanilla. Pour into a mold and chill in sherbet glasses. Garnish with fresh fruit in season.

POMPADOUR RICE

1 1/2 cups cooked rice

3 tablespoons fruit sugar

1 teaspoon vanilla

1 cup whipping cream

Pinch of salt.

Combine rice, sugar, salt and vanilla. Whip cream and fold into rice. Serve with maple syrup cooked until thick. Sprinkle with chopped nuts.

Native of Trinidad Still Use Leeches

The judge of the workmen's compensation court at Port of Spain, Trinidad, was surprised to hear that natives of this British island colony still resorted to the old-time remedy of using leeches to cure an injured person by bleeding.

But H. Hudson Phillips, barrister-at-law who was arguing the case, was not surprised and told the court as follows:

"There is a roasting trade between Martinique, Guadeloupe and Trinidad with leeches," he said. "They are procured from the rivers of the French colonies. They are fed on charcoal and sold in the eastern market here."

Sharing The Worry

SYNOPSIS

Nancy Nelson is a sub-deb, a girl, irresponsible girl of nineteen, with no care beyond the choice of her costume for her coming-out party. Suddenly, in the market crash, her independent father loses all he had, and his family is forced to live in the city of a simpler mode of living. At this juncture a letter is received from an eccentric relative in Colorado, who offers the girl a home—what seems to be impossible conditions.

After much consideration Cousin Columbine's offer is accepted, and Nancy and Jack arrive at Pine Ridge. Nancy set out one afternoon to climb the top of a hill to see to obtain a view of the surrounding landscape and miles the path Adams, who had told her to follow. A truck came along the road, and by Matthew Adams, and she said him which way to go. They ascended the hill, look around, and then go on to Cousin Columbine's. There Mark Adams tells Nancy that his brother Luke has broken his leg, and she Luke has been better. With Jack away, Nancy finds that she is homesick, and having no books to read, the idea of starting a public library at Pine Ridge seems a good one, and Nancy writes home to get her parents to send all the books they could spare and all they could loan elsewhere to let them have.

Nancy and Matthew Adams go Christmas shopping in a neighboring town. On their return to Pine Ridge, Nancy is amazed to see the Columbine residence all lit up, and she Matthew if he knows why. He said: Let's go in and see. Then Nancy learns that she is having her debut, but in a different setting than had been planned for her in Boston.

Nancy's parents and friends gave their liberal support to her request for books, and a sizable box arrived in due course. Father Adam painted a sign for the library, and the Adams boys worked on the shelves for hours and determined to make the room look presentable.

Now Go On With The Story

CHAPTER XVI

March "came in like a lamb," and continued lamb-like for so long that Nancy hung her fur coat at the very back of her closet, and concluded that spring had come. It was on one of these rare days when Aurora, deep in an orgy of housecleaning, ordered the girl emphatically to "clear out," that Nancy decided to test the woodland trail to the hilltop where she had gone with Matthew three months before, and reaching the summit, dropped breathless at the foot of the old pine.

She had wanted to go to the Adams ranch that morning, but it was "library day," and Mary Taylor, who would have taken her place beside the desk, was visiting in Pueblo. There was nothing to do but stay at home, and this was the sort of weather that made one long to "go somewhere"—surely too fine a day to remain indoors. So here she was, gazing off at that marvelous picture, with Pine Ridge looking only a mile away; and at her feet a clump of Colorado anemones like those Matt had brought her from the ranch last week. Nancy wished that Aunt Judy, who so loved flowers, were there to see them.

Suddenly it struck the girl as unbelievable that she should be two thousand miles from home, alone on a hilltop under a pine that had as Matthew Adams pointed out, viewed things that were part of the history of her country. If only this wonderful old tree could talk! Why, it had stood here in silence and watched that Indian and his boy approach the lonely cabin where a small Colorado Columbine was mysteriously enjoying her first Christmas tree! Did it tug at its sturdy roots in an effort to send forth a warning? must Nancy whimperily; and then said aloud:

"But I'd never have had them thoughts if Matt hadn't put them into my head, perhaps. It's a queer boy—Matt Adams—so awfully shy most of the time, and such a riot when he forgets himself! I never saw any one just like him. Mark's bright as a dollar, and one can have perfectly grand times with him; but these are days when I like him better even more. Somehow Matt makes you want to protect him, he's so sensitive, and in that, 'Tux the night of my—"

Nancy started, blushing as red as ever the approaching Matthew had done, and spluttered: "scurry I scared you. Thought maybe you saw truck bumping along the road down there. I caught a glimpse of an orange tan and made guess that you'd be under it. Mother want you for supper; and Dad has promised to fry chickens if you'll come."

"Does the invitation include Cousin Columbine?" asked Nancy as the young man dropped to the ground beside her.

"Of course. You can ride back with Luke when he gets the milk cans this afternoon."

"That's grand," smiled Nancy.

"How did your mother know that I was crazy to go out to the ranch today?"

"She didn't. It's a farewell banquet for yours truly. I'm swapping jobs with Mark to-morrow. Uncle Tom needs some one to write longer, and Mark is fit to sit at missing so much of your society. He called Mother up this morning with a pathetic story which she felt for instantly, and proceeded to point out the fact that it was duty to release him. Jack's going to drive me to Prairie Ranch to-morrow, and come home with Mark. I hope to thunder I'll be back in another week."

"I hope so too," returned Nancy sweetly; "but it's been wonderful for Jack, having this chance of stay with you people. I didn't dream your uncle would be laid up so long."

"Neither did Matt," laughed Matthew, "or it would have required even more persuasion to make him go! But it was Uncle Tom who fixed things so Dad and Mother could marry when they did, and they'd lend him anything from their sock to their last copper. Say, Nancy, have you decided when you're going back?"

"I wrote Dad yesterday that I thought we ought to stay till June. There are such a lot of things we want to see, Matt; and goodness knows I'll never come again."

"Of course you will! What makes you say a thing like that? Why—why if I thought . . ."

He didn't finish the sentence; and Nancy said demurely: "It's nice of you to want us to return! And we're going to miss you, Adams, a whole lot. That's straight, Matt. Yet I can't help wondering if when we come back again this—well, the whole experience, won't seem almost like a dream. If you knew how I dreaded to come! I was scared out of my senses. You've no idea what an awful crowd I am."

"Was, perhaps," Matthew corrected gravely.

Nancy threw him a little smile; then her face sobered.

"I'm not so sure the past tense is correct, Matt. Sometimes I think my courage has never been tested, and wonder how I'd show up in a pinch. It was pride that made me consent to come out here—that is, mostly pride. I wanted to help Dad, of course. We all did. But I'd never have come alone, Matt. I'm so nervous."

"I beg to disagree with you, lady. Jack says you never whimpered at giving up that glorious debut!"

"The girl raised her head in sheer surprise."

"He did?"

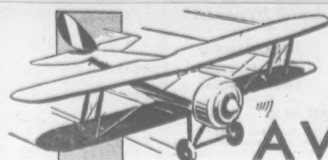

"Matthew nodded."

"Your kind brother thinks the world of you, Nancy. Didn't you know it?" Nancy pondered that.

"I knew Jack was fond of me, of course; but when I hesitated about coming to Colorado he—he called me a parlor ornament, and—"

Matt laughed, his eyes shining as his mother's had when Nancy first saw her.

"What's the disgrace in being ornamental so long as you're something else besides? Look at our library, Miss Aladdin! Honestly, Nancy, Dad says he doesn't know any one who's accomplished so much in a

Little Helps For This Week

Be merciful unto me, O God, be merciful to me, for my soul trusteth in Thee: Yes in the shadow of Thy wings will I make my refuge, until mine calamities be overpast.—Psalm 57, 1.

My God, in whom are all the springs of boundless love and grace unknown. Hide me beneath Thy spreading wings.

Till the dark cloud is overthrown. In time of trouble go not out of yourself to seek for aid, for the whole benefit of trial consists in silence, patience, rest, and resignation. In this condition divine strength is found for the hard warfare, because God Himself fights for the soul.

In vain will you let your mind run out after help in times of trouble. It is like putting to sea in a storm. Sit still, and feel after your principles, and if you find none that give you help with composure of a step and prop, and which point you to quietness and silent submission demand of you have never learned the truth from the Spirit of Truth.

Tuesday and Wednesday. The first is "Grace Moore in the Night of Love" and the other,
Claude Colbert and Clark Gable
in "It Happened One Night.""Mr. Dynamite" Booked
For Empress TheatreRemember the "Thin Man"
What a thrilling, entertaining film it was! Now the same author, Dashiell Hammett, has turned out another bang-mystery yarn, full of amazing situations and delightful comedy to go with it. It is Universally "Mr. Dynamite," starring Edmund Lowe, which has been booked in the Empress Theatre this week end."Mr. Dynamite" is one of the best bafflers of the year, and with Lowe, playing the dynamic roguish detective, it takes on a most delightful air. A splendidCARD OF THANKSI wish to express my thanks to all who were so kind to me and Miss Gibbons during my illness and to those who provided cars for the funeral and the Redcliff Band. Especially would I thank Mr. and Mrs. A.

film. The featured players include Jean Dixon, Esther Ralston, Victor Varconi, Vera Villie, Robert Glendier, Mr. J.
Watson, Bradley Page, Grace
Meyer and Jameson Thomas
besides many others.Dashiell Hammett, the author of the original story, is one of the best known and highest respected mystery writers of his time. In "Mr. Dynamite" he incorporated some of the most unusual twists, so that the chris-tial solution of the murder comes as a complete surprise.Free Planting Plan For Drouth AreaTrees Supplied Free, Financial Assistance GivenTo increase the general interest in farm tree planting on the western prairie, especially in the areas that have been affected by drought and soil drifting, the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Advisory Committee will supply suitable nursery stock free of charge to farmers and give them financial assistance for certain special projects.
The policy of supplying industrial farmers on the prairie with free trees from the Dominion Forestry Station at Indian Head and Sutherland, Sask., has been continued as in the past for the establishment of farm home shelter belts and to be desired for field crop shelter or hedges.All the tree planting work and assistance will be under the direction of Norman N. Rose, Chief, Division of Tree planting, Dominion Forestry Station, Indian Head, Sask. to whom requests concerning the details of the assistance to be given, towards developing the different tree planting projects should be made.EMPOUNDEDThe following horses are in
